

SINGLES BADMINTON TOURNAMENT

Official Tournament Format, Rules & Conduct

1. Tournament Format

The tournament will consist of 32 singles players. The competition will follow a two-loss elimination system: a player is eliminated only after losing two matches. A player who loses two matches is immediately disqualified from further participation.

- Starting field: 32 players.
- Singles event: one player competes against one player.
- Two-loss rule: the first match loss does not eliminate a player; the second match loss eliminates the player.
- Players with 0 losses remain in the undefeated group.
- Players with 1 loss move into the one-loss group and continue competing.
- A player is eliminated as soon as their second match loss is recorded.
- The tournament organizer will maintain the official win/loss record and determine the next match for each player.
- If a final-stage situation requires an additional deciding match under the event schedule, the organizer's announced bracket and match order will be final.

Tournament Flow

Stage	Players / Status	Loss Status	Action
Opening Round	32 players	0 losses	Players begin the tournament.
Main Competition	Winners + one-loss players	0 or 1 loss	Players continue according to the organizer's draw.
Elimination	Any player	2 losses	Player is disqualified.
Final Stage	Remaining contenders	Based on bracket	Matches determine the tournament winner.

Important: The two-loss rule applies to match results, not individual set. Losing one set inside a match does not count as one tournament loss.

2. Match Format & Scoring

- Each match will be played as best of 3 games.
- In round of 32 Each set is played to 11 points using rally-point scoring.
- In round of 16 and further qualifier Each sets played to 15 points using rally-point scoring.
- In Final Each set is played to 15 points using rally-point scoring.
- Every rally results in a point for one side.

- The player winning 2 sets first wins the match.
- The winner of the match receives a win in the tournament record; the loser receives one match loss.
- A match may be shortened or modified only if the tournament organizer announces the change before play begins.
- What's deuce ?
 - A deuce occurs when both the players reaches game point.
 - To finish the set a player must score two succession points in order to win the set.
 - In round of 32 if both player have 10-10 and no succession points get scored then 1st player to reach 16 point will win.
 - In round of 16 and further qualifier if both player have 14-14 and no succession points get scored then 1st player to reach 21 point will win.
 - In Final if both player have 20-20 and no succession points get scored then 1st player to reach 26 point will win

3. Court, Equipment & Basic Singles Rules

- Singles matches use the singles court boundaries: the inside side lines are used, while the doubles side lines are out.
- The full back boundary line is in for singles.
- The net must be crossed by the shuttle without touching the ground before it reaches the opponent's Court.

- Players must use an approved badminton racket and shuttle supplied or approved by the organizer.
- Players must wear suitable sports clothing and non-marking court shoes.
- Players are responsible for checking their equipment before the match begins.

Singles Court Boundary Reminder

- Side boundary: use the INNER side line for singles.
- Back boundary: the REAR boundary line is in.
- A shuttle landing on a boundary line is IN.

4. Service Rules

- Before the match, a toss will decide the first server/receiver and choice of ends, unless the organizer specifies another procedure.
- The serve must be delivered diagonally into the opponent's correct service court.
- The server serves from the right service court when the server's score is even and from the left service court when the server's score is odd.
- The server must serve from the correct service court. A service-court error may be corrected according to the umpire/organizer's decision.
- The shuttle must be struck correctly during service and must travel upward into the opponent's service court.
- A serve that lands outside the correct service court is a fault.
- The receiver must be ready before the server delivers the service. Deliberate delay is not permitted.

5. Common Faults

A fault results in a point for the opponent. Common faults include:

- The shuttle lands outside the court.
- The shuttle fails to pass over the net.
- The shuttle touches the net and fails to cross to the opponent's side.
- A player touches the net with the racket, body, or clothing while the shuttle is in play.
- A player hits the shuttle twice in succession or carries/scoops the shuttle.
- A player obstructs or deliberately distracts the opponent.
- A service is delivered incorrectly.
- The shuttle is hit before it has crossed the net into the hitter's side, except where the racket legally follows through over the net after contact.
- The player commits any other fault recognized by the applicable badminton rules or the umpire.

6. Lets

- A let may be called when play must be stopped and the rally replayed.
- Examples include an unexpected outside interference, a shuttle becoming damaged in a way that affects play, or another situation where the umpire determines that a let is appropriate.
- When a let is called, the rally does not count and the same server serves again from the appropriate service court.

7. Change of Ends & Intervals

- Players change ends after the first set.
- If a third set is played, players change ends when the leading score reaches half of the match points.
- The interval between games is limited to the time announced by the tournament organizer.
- Players must return to court promptly after an interval.

8. Tournament Logistics & Conduct

8.1 Match Calling: The 5-Minute Rule

- When a match is called, players have exactly 5 minutes to report to the assigned court.
- Players should arrive at the court ready to play with their racket, footwear and other required equipment.
- Failure to report within the 5-minute period may result in a default walkover for the opponent.
- The tournament organizer or designated official has the final authority to record a walkover.

8.2 Warm-Ups

- Pre-match court warm-up is restricted to exactly 2 minutes.
- Players should use the warm-up efficiently and avoid unnecessary delays.
- Once the 2-minute warm-up ends, the match should begin immediately.

8.3 Code of Conduct

- Players must show respect toward opponents, officials, volunteers and spectators.
- Arguing aggressively with the umpire, shouting profanities, deliberately distracting an opponent, or throwing a racket is not permitted.
- First offense: official warning.
- Second offense: point penalty against the offending player.
- Serious misconduct, threatening behavior, physical aggression, deliberate equipment damage, or repeated misconduct may result in immediate disqualification at the organizer/umpire's discretion.
- Players must shake hands or otherwise acknowledge the opponent respectfully after the match, where practical.

9. Player Responsibilities

- Report to the venue and court on time.
- Keep personal belongings safely away from the playing area.
- Follow the match schedule and announcements.
- Do not intentionally delay play.
- Maintain sportsmanship regardless of the score.
- Raise rules or scoring questions calmly with the umpire or tournament organizer.
- Accept the official's decision during play. Formal disputes may be raised with the tournament organizer after the match.

10. Walkovers, Withdrawal & Disqualification

- A walkover may be awarded when a player fails to report within the 5-minute match-calling period.
- A player who withdraws before completing a scheduled match must inform the organizer immediately.
- A player who receives a recorded match loss under the tournament system will have that loss counted toward the two-loss elimination rule, subject to the organizer's decision in exceptional circumstances.
- A player reaching two match losses is eliminated and cannot re-enter the tournament.
- Disqualification for misconduct is separate from normal two-loss elimination and may take effect immediately.
